KIWANIS CLUB DISCUSSES CIVIC MATTERS TODAY

Dr. Schultz Reports Dixie Highway Routing This Way If Road To Corbin Is Built—To Scarey East End Soon.

NO LUNCHEON NEXT WEEK IF BALL TEAM GOES TO HARLAN

A number of important matters were discussed at the Kiwanis Club meeting today in regard to municipal, club and school affairs. Dr. C. K. Broshier was chairman. W. D. Motch drew the attendance prize. The silent boosts; bottles of flavoring, were given by Warren P. Rash. A. P. Liebig acted as president in the absence of T. R. Hill.

Dr. Jacob Schultz gave a report on the interview with the Dixie Highway board. The board said the Dixie Highway could be routed through Middlesboro only if the road from Corbin here is built or contracts for its building let. The road is built to the Knobline, and yesterday the contract from there to Barbourville was let. This leaves about twelve miles from Barbourville to Corbin and until this is attended the Dixie route will be through Jellico as all of the road that way are being built or have been let.

Judge J. F. Bosworth reported on the scarring of the East End street, saying that he understood the state was going to do this as temporary action and that the state would help one-third toward building the street next spring. Another member reported that Tipton, the road engineer, had instructions from the state to work on this road, and that within a week, as soon as the Cumberland Gap road was finished, he would move his machine here.

Supt. J. W. Bradner was then called to athletics. He urged the Kiwanis Club to support the school, especially in the football season, which begins Saturday. He said football is not a dangerous game if the players were well trained, and that it was a clean, manly game which prompted a better courage and fellow feeling in the boys educated to say a few words in regard who played it.

The club voted not to have a luncheon next Thursday if the Kiwanis baseball team goes to Harlan for a return game, as is planned. It was also voted to take steps toward bringing Jim Goddard, opera singer, of Knoxville convention fame, here the first of next month for a concert. The matter was turned over to the convention committee.

George Schonck, manager of the new hotel, spoke a few words on the progress of the hotel, saying that they expected to open near the first of November. He complimented the hotel building and said it would be furnished in such a way that it would compare favorably with hotels any where.

Dr. L. L. Robertson, recently returned from Europe, was called upon for a report of his trip and gave a brief outline of the places he visited.

DR. E. L. CAMP HONORED AS STATE OPTOMETRY EXAMINER

Dr. Earl L. Camp of this city has been named state examiner in optometry by Dr. A. T. McCormick, special health officer. There are three of these state examiners, and the appointment of Dr. Camp as one of the number is a high honor which shows appreciation of his ability in his profession.

Dr. Camp has been appointed to succeed Dr. H. M. Kendall whose term has expired. Other members of the board of examiners are Dr. Pieper of Covington and Dr. Hendrick. The letter from Dr. McCormick stated that Dr. Camp's name was endorsed by both of his associates. The term is for two years.

Only in the last two years in Kentucky has optometry been recognized by law as a special profession requiring the registration of all persons who practice it. The state is divided into eleven zones for this registration. Dr. Camp is president of the optometrists of this zone and he is vice-president of the state association of optometrists.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—British government circles today took a grave view of the situation in the Dardanelles, which is regarded so critical as to overshadow revolutionary developments in Greece. The opinion expressed is that there is greater prospect for fighting between British and Turkish Nationalists than at any previous time.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR BOOTHS AT HARVEST FESTIVAL MADE

The committee on arrangements for the Harvest Festival met yesterday to discuss further plans for the festival. The placing of the display booths was determined and the booths marked off. Gus Galeppi, proprietor of the Green Parrot, is to have charge of arranging the displays of farm produce in the central booth at the tent.

The carpenter will go to work on the central booth Monday. He will also take charge of any work on the individual merchants' booths desired.

THIEVES ESCAPE WITH $14,000 FROM CINCINNATI BANK

By Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Sept. 28.—Five men entered the Hamilton County Bank on Woodburn avenue today, struck the easier over the head and escaped with a sum at first estimated to be $14,000.

The bandits drove up to the bank in an automobile, rushed in with drawn revolvers, compelled depositors and employees to enter the rear room while they looted the open safe. One bandit struck Alarcies Grief with a pistol because Grief moved slowly.

THE LITTLE SHEPHERD OF KINGDOM COME" THURSDAY

The millions who have read John Fox, Jr.'s fascinating novel, "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," will be even more delighted with this charming play which comes to the Mourning Theatre on Thursday, Oct. 5.

It exhales all the fragrance and romance of the Kentucky hills. The play is not only the light of an inspiration but it is one of the most realistic and picturesque products of stagecraft ever seen, for the beauty of nature and breadth of romance are found in the story; and you must know the "Chad," the little shepherd, that so many people have read about all over the world. The tense moments of the play follow each other with startling rapidity, while there is a very delightful comedy strain throughout which relieves the tenseness of the drama. The play opens at Lee's Monday.

BIRMINGHAM H. S. STUDENTS POISONED

About 700 Made Ill Eating Sandwiches From School Cafeteria Yesterday.

By Associated Press

BIRMINGHAM, Sept. 28.—Roll call at Woodlawn high school today showed 260 students were absent as the result of food poisoning yesterday. Many students were violently ill for a time but all are out of danger today except one whose condition is grave. Investigation disclosed students poisoned by eating sandwiches made from beef, cabbage, celery and pickles at the school cafeteria. Scores became ill in the classroom while others dropped in the streets while returning to their homes later in the day. The total number affected was about 700.

An express driver caught with 56 suits was arrested. He should have posed as a landlord.

THE TOUGHEST PROBLEM OF THEM ALL

GRIEF-TORN, SHE IS "HAPPIEST WOMAN"

By John O'Donnell

New York, Sept. 28.—She says she is the happiest woman in the world and then she tells a story of grief and domestic trouble that would give another woman perpetual self-pity.

In her native land she is socially ostracized. Her family has witnessed her world-wide success without enthusiasm. Her husband's family bitterly condemns her. Her husband, whom she left in Tokio, made an unsuccessful attempt to prevent her from continuing her stage career.

Speaking slowly, as if fumbling over pile of unfamiliar nouns and verbs, Mme. Tamaki Miura, Japanese prima donna told how she struggled through the unhappiness of an opposition undreamed of by an American girl until she could truthfully say, "I am the happiest woman in the world."

Mme. Miura's struggle gives Japanese women a precedent. By shattering the tradition that it is a disgrace for a woman to sing anywhere except in her own home and for a husband's entertainment, she has opened a new future for her country-women.

And now the plump little iconoclastic woman from the Orient is happy. "When I sing in the United States, Europe, South America—there is a fresh happiness—something I feel when I see my audiences. If I do not have this happiness, I die. I cannot have this happiness if I stay in Japan and there sing only in my own house."

She cupped her two small hands. "It is in this that I like to put me. Shut up in a room with my husband and my husband is a dishonor to my audiences. I must tell them, they tell me. I can't."

Mme. Miura has been married for ten years, her marriage taking place two years before she made her debut in London at the farewell concert of Adelina Patti in 1914.

"What about your husband?"

"He has been very difficult. He knows how I love to sing and I told him I would come back to Japan every year. But he listens to his mother and father who believe it is a dishonor to be on the stage and so he wants me to stay at home."

"But when I made my debut, I knew I could never live without the happiness of singing before an audience. That night in London I sang before the king and queen. First I sang from Rigoletto and then two Japanese songs. Mme. Patti kissed me after the concert.

"It was the first kiss I had ever received in my life. We do not kiss in Japan. My husband would be angry if I tried to kiss him."

"My mind is changing from Japanese to American. I like to live in America but—" she placed her hand over her heart—"I can't go back to Tokio. It would kill me to do without my one great joy in life—my audiences."

During the turmoil King Constantine issued a manifesto abdicating in favor of his eldest son.

READY FOR FIRST FOOTBALL GAME

M. H. S. Eleven To Meet Junction City Saturday—Local Backing Urged By Team.

The following summary of prospects for the first football game of the season was contributed by a member of the team:

Football season for Middlesboro High School opens Saturday with the local eleven ready to do or die. On the home gridiron Saturday the yellow jackets of M. H. S. expect to start the season off right by winning the game from Junction City High.

This promises to be a fast game because the defeats of last year still rankle in the hearts of the gridmiles, and from the amount of enthusiasm displayed it seems as if we will get revenge.

Coach Porter has been working hard with the boys and they are responding loyally. If they are victors Saturday much credit will be due to the new coach who surely knows his business and is a valuable asset to the school.

Captain McWilliams will be on the sidelines this season because of a serious recent operation. This is regrettable as McWilliams was the most reliable man last year.

Several of the merchants are going to decorate their display windows Saturday to help boost the team and other citizens are urged to turn out and back up the home team. If we are to win this game, we need your support.

SPEZIA, Sept. 28.—The entire garrison of the navy at Paleonara, mort, near here, in the Gulf of Genoa, are believed killed in an explosion caused by lightning, which destroyed everything within a radius of ten miles. Many hundreds of persons were wounded. Seventy bodies have been recovered. There is no estimate of the number of dead. Fifteen hundred tons of explosives were stored in deep tunnels of the hill on which it was located was completely blown away.

CHARLES LAMB, 7 YEARS OLD KILLED BY SHOT IN HEAD

Charles Lamb, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Lamb, was shot through the head and killed a little after noon today, and Marshall Hamstad, 9 years old, is held for the killing. Both boys live in the East End. The shooting occurred at the Hamstad home, in Cemetery Hollow, where the boys were alone.

An inquest with Magistrate C. G. Smyth is to be held this afternoon at the scene of the shooting. Little information in regard to details has been gained as the Hamstad boy denies that he did the shooting. The boy was taken to the detention ward of the city jail by officers.

Deputy Sheriff Jim Thompson was called about 1 o'clock by J. Russell, a neighbor of the Hamstads. Mr. Thompson says that he asked Marshall who shot Charles and the boy replied that a man with a gun came along and shot him, then ran into the woods.

Coach Porter has been working hard with the boys and they are responding loyally. If they are victors Saturday much credit will be due to the new coach who surely knows his business and is a valuable asset to the school.

Captain McWilliams will be on the sidelines this season because of a serious recent operation. This is regrettable as McWilliams was the most reliable man last year.

Several of the merchants are going to decorate their display windows Saturday to help boost the team and other citizens are urged to turn out and back up the home team. If we are to win this game, we need your support.

Marshall Hamstad is the only son of a widow. He is a grandson of one of the Thruers of the old Tucker feud. Charles Lamb was a grandson of Sam Noe.

What Loss Of One Player May Mean In A World Series

WHILE trying to figure out the dope on the chances of the Giants, Yankees, or Browns being the 1922 world series champion the thought occurred to me how much of an upset in the calculations would the loss through injury of a man like Sister from the Browns, or Kelly from the Giants, or Pipp from the Yanks lineup mean.

Rather odd, but a fact nevertheless, that just previous to a great many world series, some member of one of the contesting teams has been rendered hors de combat.

As far back as 1905, Rube Waddell was incapacitated as far as baseball was concerned in a friendly rough-and-tumble straw hat breaking affair.

Rossman took a forced leave of absence from one of the Detroit-Cub affairs in 1907 or '08.

Johnny Evers broke a leg just previous to the 1910 Cub-Athletic series.

Stuffy McInnis, Rube Oldring, Fred Merkle, Red Smith, Jack Berry, the late Ray Chapman, and Babe Ruth are other notables I recall offhand who were forced out of whole or part of world series because of injuries. And in the majority of cases the absences were members of the losing team.

What of it? Just this: The success of every championship team I believe is due primarily to teamwork.

There are lots of good ball teams where teamwork is not so obvious but very few championships are won without it.

I know that the absolute harmonious co-operation of the Athletics won the success from 1909 to 1914.

A good ball team might be likened to a well-oiled piece of machinery, the various players represent the cogs. Failure to hustle, loafing, or otherwise not putting forth one's best efforts to win is apt to throw the whole machine out of gear, and spill the works, just so, take out one of the important cogs, and the effectiveness of your machine is impaired. It happens occasionally but not often that in substitutes shine even better than the regular. One instance, George Ruth White Sox who substituted for Lee Tannehill, was the series star in 1906.

The loss of one of the regulars from the ranks of a world series contesting team is not only an actual loss, but is certain to have an important psychological effect as well.

Confidence loss being part in a team's success, shake this confidence by the removal of one of the tried members and the thought arises: Will so and so be able to fill his shoes? There is an existing doubt and as this doubt continues, confidence ebbs with the one team, and grows with the opponents. The threat that a man like Ruth or Sister must always carry for the opposition cannot be made as formidable by any substitutes. No one realized that more than the Giants in those last three games last fall.

Considering the fact that he was a pitcher, George White performed most creditably at first base for Fred Merkle in a part of the 1913 Giant-Athletic series. But he was not nearly or formidable at bat, and that is where the Giants suffered and the Athletics gained.

Jayvin displaced Barry in the Red Sox-Brooklyn series and did very well.

As far as substitutes go this year, if any are necessary, the Giants appear to be the best fortified. Johnny Rawlings can fill any infield position most acceptably, for pitch fitters the Yanks present a likely lot, including Baker, Elmer Smith and Hoffman, For the Browns Johnny Austin, after years of earnest service tantly deserving of first call

Mme. Miura has been married for ten years, her marriage taking place two years before she made her debut in London at the farewell concert of Adelina Patti in 1914.

"What about your husband?"

"He has been very difficult. He knows how I love to sing and I told him I would come back to Japan every year. But he listens to his mother and father who believe it is a dishonor to be on the stage and so he wants me to stay at home."

"But when I made my debut, I knew I could never live without the happiness of singing before an audience. That night in London I sang before the king and queen. First I sang from Rigoletto and then two Japanese songs. Mme. Patti kissed me after the concert.

"It was the first kiss I had ever received in my life. We do not kiss in Japan. My husband would be angry if I tried to kiss him."

"My mind is changing from Japanese to American. I like to live in America but—" she placed her hand over her heart—"I can't go back to Tokio. It would kill me to do without my one great joy in life—my happiness in singing before my audiences."

KING CONSTANTINE ABDIATES IN FAVOR OF HIS ELDEST SON

By Associated Press

ATHENS, Sept. 28.—The revolutionary army has entered Athens and occupies all strategic points and ministries. A provisional revolutionary committee has been formed and has issued a proclamation saying it had reached an agreement with the government which has resigned and that the committee would assume power with the least possible delay. During the turmoil King Constantine issued a manifesto abdicating in favor of his eldest son.

READY FOR FIRST FOOTBALL GAME

M. H. S. Eleven To Meet Junction City Saturday—Local Backing Urged By Team.

The following summary of prospects for the first football game of the season was contributed by a member of the team:

Football season for Middlesboro High School opens Saturday with the local eleven ready to do or die. On the home gridiron Saturday the yellow jackets of M. H. S. expect to start the season off right by wiping the game from Junction City High.

This promises to be a fast game because the defeats of last year still rankle in the hearts of the gridironites, and from the amount of enthusiasm displayed it seems as if we will get revenge.

Coach Porter has been working hard with the boys and they are responding tally. If they are victors Saturday much credit will be due to the new coach who surely knows his business and is a valuable asset to the school.

Captain McWilliams will be on the sidelines this season because of a serious recent operation. This is regrettable as McWilliams was the most reliable man last year.

Several of the merchants are going to decorate their display windows Saturday to help boost the team and other citizens are urged to turn out and back up the home team. If we are to win this game, we need your support.

Supreme Court Frustrates Petition of Attorney General To Keep Proposal Off Ballot.

By Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Sept. 28.—The Ohio Supreme Court today frustrated another attempt to prevent the vote at the November election on the constitutional amendment authorizing the sale of light wines and beer, by refusing to hear a petition filed by Attorney General Hawke seeking to enjoin the Secretary of State from placing the proposal on the ballot.

The action of the court made certain a vote on wine and beer amendment in November.

1500 TONS EXPLOSIVES WERE STORED IN TUNNELS IN GROUND

By Associated Press

SPEZIA, Sept. 28.—The entire garrison of the navy at Falomara Fort near here, in the Gulf of Genoa, are believed killed in an explosion caused by lightning, which destroyed everything within a radius of ten miles. Many hundreds of persons were wounded. Seventy bodies have been recovered. There is no estimate of the number of dead. Fifteen hundred tons of explosives were stored in deep tunnels of the fort. The entire top of the hill on which it was located was completely blown away.

CHARLES LAMB, 7 YEARS OLD KILLED BY SHOT IN HEAD

Marshall Hamstad, 9, Held For Killing, Denies Charge, Saying Man Shot Dead Lad and Ran Into Woods.

INQUEST THIS AFTERNOON TO INVESTIGATE CASE

Charles Lamb, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Lamb, was shot through the head and killed a little after noon today, and Marshall Hamstad, 9 years old, is held for the killing. Both boys live in the East End. The shooting occurred at the Hamstad home in Cemetery Hollow, while the boys were alone.

An inquest with Magistrate G. G. Smyth is to be held this afternoon at the scene of the shooting. Little information in regard to details has been gained as the Hamstad boy denies he did the shooting. The boy was taken to the detention ward of the city hall by officers.

Deputy Sheriff Jim Thompson was called about 1 o'clock by J. Russell, a neighbor of the Hamstads. Mr. Thompson says that he asked Marshall who shot Charles and the boy replied that a man with a gun came along and shot him, then ran into the woods. "Now you know better than that," Mr. Thompson persisted. "Where is the gun?" Marshall still insisted that the man shot Charles but on query finally said, "Manure keeps the gun over there," indicating a cupboard. This was searched and several other places. Finally Mr. Thompson started to look in the bed. Marshall protested, saying they had already looked there. Mr. Thompson went ahead and found the gun under the pillow with one chamber discharged.

Marshall Hamstad is the only son of a widow. He is a grandson of one of the Turners of the old Turner feud. Charles Lamb was a grandson of Sam Noe.

THE FORMER KAISER

Pink shirts and pink collars are being sported by the ex-kaiser, reports a London Daily Mail correspondent after a visit to Holland.

All around, Bill is perking up. He is emerging from strict seclusion, leading a free existence, and works daily in his garden in full view of anyone passing the castle home of his notorious exile.

Chopping and sawing wood? Not these days. Instead, Bill is thinning out the firs along the road, clipping and trimming like a gardener. His gang of helpers work with him, just inside the wire fence, in their shirt-sleeves. Occasionally even Bill is reported to strip off the coat of his gray suit.

He talks incessantly—but his talk is limited to trees and landscape gardening.

The ex-crown prince pays occasional visits to his father, and dashes all over the country in his new motor car.

He spends much time playing lawn tennis and croquet, and he sees many visitors.

The story in Holland is that he would visit his father more often if it were not for the fact that Bill makes him help him in the garden.

Recently he took a two weeks' vacation while plumbers installed a bath at his island home. What do you make of that, Watson? Well, Sherlock, it looks as if the ex-crown prince expects to spend another winter where he is. Important? To some extent, since he is not anticipating any immediate return to Germany.

It's getting along, now, near that historic date, Nov. 11. The war soon will have been over four years, though it seems like yesterday.

Four years ago, the slightest antehenarian move by either the kaiser or the crown prince was "big news." Today interest in the Hohenzollerns is at low ebb in America. Nevertheless, it is interesting to get a summary of how the two are reacting under exile.

The ex-kaiser—sporting a pink shirt while playing as a gardener! The ex-crown prince elated because he is going to have a real bath-tub! Gosh, haven't times changed!

A NEW THOUGHT ON A POPULAR SUBJECT

Aside from its admitted merits as a conversation promoter and stimulator, the prohibition act has determined definitely the answer to an old and interesting question, namely: What is dearest to the soul of civilized man? If the question has ever occurred to you, you may have answered variously, as others have done—God, Country, Life, Liberty, Honor, Love, Money—but it is now clear that we have all been wrong. It is Booze.

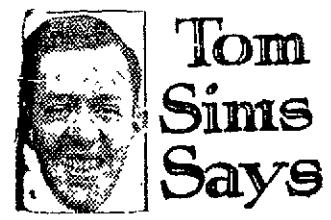

We may freely admit that man loves God, but does he not willingly break every one of the ten commandments, that are generally accepted as God's richest blessing, for the sake of Booze? Which, then, is more beloved? Man's dearest prize is not life—witness the consumers of wood alcohol in defiance of all warnings and in face of every tragedy. Nor is it liberty—prison obviously has no terror that can outweigh the wild joy of eluding the enforcement agents. Is it love? No—man will desert, maltreat, yes, and even kill his nearest and dearest for Booze. Is it his country? Scarcely, while with every snarled drop he makes a silly mockery of the very foundation of his country, the Constitution. Honor? Ha! Humorous thought, in view of the trickery, thievery, lies and all the moral filth with which man will bedaub himself for a quart or less. Money runs Booze the closest second but loses out at last when the question arises of giving up one or go without the other. "I'll take it" is the invariable answer, regardless of the price.

Let us pause, then, before any of us seek to deprive humanity permanently of that which means to it more than God, Country, Life, Liberty, Love, Honor, and Money! Since Booze is so powerful and so beloved of man that he will sacrifice all this for it, must there not be something inherently worthy in it? Some precious attribute to which many of us have long been blind—some invincible virtue, that however we may seek to smother it beneath the dust of prejudiced journalism, will ultimately blaze and burn, like truth itself, becoming as on to joy and peace. Does not the holy deal with which man acquires produces, consumes and hoards. Booze confirms this idea? Have we not here, in fine, a religion of supreme truth, on which all men can agree—Boozeism? Then why not lay aside all our outworn theories of what is good, sacred and desirable, and lift up our hearts unreservedly to this glorious and noble cult?—C. P. Denison, N. Y.

I LIKE the friendly letter that is full of pleasant chatter,
On the letter from the folks back home;
And the gushing gothic letter crammed with bright and sly patter.

And the letter from across the ocean,
I like the prima epistle from some dear old maiden auntie,
And a comrade's letter, true and tried,
But the best of all they missives though it otherwise is scanty,

Is the letter with the check inside.

THERE'S the letter full of crosses (indicating loving kisses)

Which will give each lover's heart a thrill.

There's the letter far from papa any missive such as this is)

Which begs to call attention to a fact;

Business letters, begging letters, letters gay and letters merry

Letters that you want to show—on note

But the best of all epistles—though the thought sounds mercenary—

Is the letter with the check inside.

FRIENDS may write to calm and cheer you in manner sympathetic

And it's nice to have them write that way.

Other folks may spin you onward with their phrases energetic.

But when things are going badly with no sign of getting better

And you think the game of life's a slide

It's then you get new courage from the truly helpful letter,

Don't depend too much on blood tonics. Iron in the blood must come from natural foods, not from medicine. True, medicated iron stimulates digestion, perhaps, and thus stimulates the blood-making organs to activity, but it can hardly be counted on as an aid in the actual making of the corpuscles themselves.

LOUISVILLE PLANS PIGEON COMPANY

By Associated Press

Louisville, Sept. 28.—Plans for the recruiting of a pigeon company in Louisville, to be made up of the regular quota or approximately 220 men, with more than 3,000 homing pigeons for use in signal service work in event of war, are being laid by officers of the Organized Officer's Reserve Corps, a pigeon expert is aiding in the organization work in connection with the formation of the company.

Of the total of 217 men and seven officers sought, 67 men already have been recruited. The company, Lieutenant Shawyan said, will be the only one of its kind in the United States. Its purpose will be the assembling of thoroughbred homing pigeons which can be bred to develop young pigeons adapted to military message uses.

Modern inventions never have supplanted the carrier pigeons as bearer of messages in time of war. Lieutenant Shawyan pointed out. Telephone wires may be tapped, messengers may be captured and messages taken, but the pigeon upon release rises immediately to a height out of the ranges of ordinary weapons and flies direct to its destination.

Young pigeons are the only kind used for military work. Lieutenant Shawyan said, and these are raised in special hatcheries. The homing instinct of the birds prompts them to return to the place where they were born and for this reason the nests are made in wagons that can be moved from place to place, following the advance of the firing line.

The speed of the pigeon as a messenger was illustrated recently when a bird was released at Camp Knox with a message for Mayor Huston at Louisville. The flight a distance of 20 miles, was covered in 33 minutes.

Pigeon races will be held annually. Pigeon races will be held annually, Lieutenant Shawyan said, with prizes for owners of winning birds. Each man in the company will be asked to keep fifteen to thirty pigeons at his home, the birds to be mobilized with the men in case of emergency.

TRIFLING TRAVELOGS

Battle Creek AND THE TALE OF POST'S "POSTUM"

By W. H. Porterfield

C. W. Post, inventor of Postum and Grape-Nuts and other things, came to Battle Creek, Mich., in 1895, nearly 40 years old, busted financially and physically.

His stomach had gone back on him in Springfield, Ill., and all the doctors gave him up. But Post has something better than medicine or even good health, viz., a big-hearted, clear-headed and faithful wife. And so they came to Battle Creek where Post became a patient at a sanitarium.

While Post was getting his innards fixed up at the SAN, Mrs. Post was selling suspenders and other trinkets from door to door in Battle Creek and getting money with which to pay the bills.

And finally, the patient was in shape to leave the sanitarium. So he went over to a little barn, leased it and began to experiment on a coffee substitute. You see, Post had missed his coffee dreadfully in the sanitarium, and the things they gave him in its place failed to satisfy. Here the thought was born in his busy brain of a coffee substitute.

With a gasoline stove and oven he continued his experiments and shortly was able to triumphantly announce a drink compounded of toasted grains and molasses, which when boiled for half an hour or two gave off an agreeable aroma, furnished a palatable drink, and what was even better, cured no headache in its wake.

"Fine," said C. W., "we'll call it Postum!" And he did. That name indicated Post very well. He was a genius who was not afraid of publicity.

Then the fun began, and I'll bet those early struggling days were days of joy for Post and his wife.

Post bought all the newspaper space he could get credit for, raised funds locally to finance his product, and he made good almost from the start.

Later came Grape-Nuts and Post Toasties, a great, modern factory, with close to a thousand employees, for making the product, and Postum—There's a reason in ten thousand newspapers and magazines of United States and Canada, England and the isles of the sea.

Money flowed in like water. Within 20 years of the humble start in the barn (which by the way is still standing in the factory grounds,) Post's fortune was estimated at $30,000,000.

After becoming rich, he spent much of his time in his home in Santa Barbara, Cal., and it was here he ended his life.

Post will probably remain as America's most interesting example of the down and outer who achieved great success in middle life.

There was once a mosquito infested swamp, lying just outside the business section of the beautiful little city of Battle Creek, but finally the owner was persuaded to give the land, swamp water sheeters and all to the city on condition that they spend $5,000 a year on it. The deed was done and now

Battle Creek has one of the most attractive, attractive and useful parks of any city of its size in the country—running water, no sheeters, just a beautiful drive through a serpentine parkway right at the town's edge when everyone can get to it in a moment.

Elm-shaded streets face wide-spreading lawns, surrounding comfortable, and in some cases, artistic homes all over the city, while Main Street with the big city hall and postoffice at one end is far from resembling its namesake of Gopher Prairie, being a crowded, bustling thoroughfare with every front foot taken—and at high rentals, for Battle Creek is almost a one-street town.

If it wasn't for the railroad grade crossings which infest the place, Battle Creek would be one of the most attractive cities of its size to be found anywhere. But two transline railroads just naturally have this town by the ears, and the sight of a 50 mile an hour limited shooting along just as the automatic gates come down in front of a skidding automobile, doesn't make the smallest bit of a hit with me.

The Kellogg Sanitarium, founded by Dr. J. H. Kellogg, is the biggest and most famous institution of its kind in the country. Started in a very humble way, away back in the early '70s, it has flourished like the green bay tree, until today, with its staff of hunfew days.

Four miles out of Battle Creek is the site of the greatest army cantonment of the Great War, Camp Custer, which, during the war, housed 10,000 troops. A considerable portion of the buildings were put up after the armistice! You see, they got under way and couldn't stop. Altogether, the government spent some $16,000,000 on the camp and recently sold everything above ground to a wrecking firm for $584,000.

Archibald Allen and Ann McClellan were married by William Taylor, on February 4, 1788, records in the Nelson county clerks office show. This was the earliest marriage recorded on the books there.

The tenth congressional district is composed of Gladwin, Jackson, Johnson, Knott, Letcher, Martin, Magoffin, Owsley, Pike and Perry counties.

Moore's AIRTIGHT HEATER

The Anti-Carbon Fire Pot saves the 4/10ths of soft coal which in ordinary stoves go to waste up the chimney as gas, smoke and soot. That is why this heater pays for itself out of your saving in fuel. But more than that you get rooms warm all over because it circulates the warm air.

KIWANIS NOTES

The Kiwanis Club is glad to see the increasing interest being shown in regard to the development of our relations with the agricultural interests in the adjacent states of Tennessee and Virginia. Too long have we been dead to the possibilities of these sections and the men that represent them. They are to become the stabilizing unit of our city and this club is ready to give its full support to any movement that will aid the farmers who are our neighbors in their activities. The Fall festival is only one of the many things that can be done from time to time in order to introduce ourselves to the farmers and them to us. They have long been coming to our town without our really getting acquainted. We need more of the fellowship between these interests. Too much speed cannot be given to the East End road in order to make it possible of getting over before the coming festival. It might be possible to have Mr. Tipton come down and fix that road before he completes the mountain section. At least we can speed the work and make it possible for these farmers to get here without spilling their lunch.

monds is sure there when it comes to outfielding. Babe Ruth may be better, but there are many who have their doubts.

We have had several letters from the neighboring clubs and all of them are all set for the convention in 1923. It seems that everyone wants to see the largest crowd yet out to that convention and we will have a real time showing them the sights. At any rate we will give them the best old-fashioned time they ever had.

The Baptists are bringing the state convention to our city November 14. There will be 600 delegates here. That is another boost for the town. Naturally we expect to lend our aid to the entertainment of this gang in every way possible. It all helps Middlesboro.

The Largest Men's Bible Class in Kentucky is in Middlesboro. Not bad for our mountains. Kiwanians did it.

The first foot ball game of the season will come off Saturday. The best building we can do is to get behind the kids out there on the field Saturday. Not a bad team out there this year and Pineville is coming Thanksgiving and there is a good chance to skin them. Let's get the old spirit going.

Ever think about giving a hand to the one reporter who writes up our stuff each week on the front page? No? Well, she deserves it for she has been giving us some mighty good support in that line.

Lot's of the gang want a game with Pineville next week. Seems the old wings are getting in fine shape again. Well, we believe we can do a lot better next time so we may go after a game with Pineville. Dollars to doughnuts they'd run ringers on us.

Judge Evans and Dr. Schultz put over the road episode in Lexington in good style. We are satisfied that the bacon is ours and when the roll is called for the final allotment Middlesboro will be on the map.

Judge Bosworth also did a little sashay in Washington last week. More coal cars coming right along. Fine stuff, for all we need more of the necessary. Judge and his cane are a hard proposition.

JUDGMENTS FOR PLAINTIFF GIVEN

Circuit Court Proceeds This Week With Few Major Cases—Several Divorce Decrees

Judgments for the plaintiff have been given in three major cases this week in circuit court. These are Gibson Bros. vs. the Motor Horse Corporation for $5000; A. B. Gillett of Pineville vs. the Lifechart Casualty Co., New York, $4500, and 6 per cent int rest since January 19, 1911; and National Bank of Middlesboro vs. T. H. Stone of unknown judgment for $2250 in a suit on a note.

In the first case Gibson Bros. contend that the horse they bought was no good. They had paid $100 on it and in the meantime the horse company had gone out of existence. The debt of $5000 remained, however, until this judgment was obtained.

In the second case Mr. Gillett was suing for accident insurance because of the loss of a leg. The insurance company had recommended Mr. Gillett soon after his leg was injured and he chose them and a receipt of payment in full for this refused to pay more. Mr. Gillett showed that the receipt was given before his leg had to be amputated and therefore did not hold for that.

Several divorce decrees have been granted at this term among them being Mary Krueger vs. John Krueger, both of Middlesboro, divorce and $1000 permanent alimony. Nancy Alford vs. Elton Alford, Pineville, divorce. Mary L. Johnson vs. Philip Johnson, Pineville divorce. M. C. Wood vs. Phineas Wood, Pineville divorce. Katherine Carroll vs. Carroll, Pineville, divorce. Fazia Son vs. T. H. Mason, Pineville divorce.

W. Aird MacDonald, The Daily News and NFA Service star photographer, was the only cameraman allowed in the Argonaut mine during the search for the bodies of the buried miners. He went in with oxygen tank men, searching for the one body not recovered, that of William Fessel. Crawling through the "rescue tunnel" on hands and knees, MacDonald reached the death barricade and got the only pictures of the pit where the miners died.

LOW PRICE MEANS NOTHING IF VALUE IS LACKING

Harvest Festival Visitors

Make this your headquarters during the Festival. Come in and leave your packages. Any information we can give you will be given gladly. Our services extends to more than just giving you fit, style and quality in Men's Clothes

TOP COATS

Shown here are the newest thing for this season, featuring belts all around and half way, semi-form fitting and Chesterfields. All the wanted fabrics and colors for your selection.

You don't buy a suit for temporary use; you have a right to expect that it will give months of good service. But your expectations will not be realized unless the quality is there. And rest assured that it is not there if the price is too low.

Kuppenheimer GOOD CLOTHES

are by no means high priced; the prices are well within the limit of the most thrifty buyer. But the prices have a very definite relationship to value—sound, unvarying value, based on all-wool fabrics, fine tailoring, perfect and lasting fit, long wear. You can't safely pay less and practice real clothes economy.

What Fall Offers In Furnishings

It seems as if the designers outdid themselves in the presentation of the new things to be worn this fall and winter in Men's Furnishings. More attention to quality was paid than ever before. That's why the values you get now are truly worth while. And our stock is so extensive that every man can have his tastes suited to perfection. Shirts, neckwear, pajamas, night shirts, hosiery and other accessories are here in generous selection.

TRIFLING TRAVELOGS

BUFFALO EXPANDS, ALL BUT ITS CITY LIMITS

By W. H. Porterfield

Detroit and Cleveland may make most of the automobiles and Akron may tire em but Buffalo claims to make one-third of the auto bodies of the country.

Ber steel foundry district is the largest in the state, she is the largest linsed oil producer in the country, and one of the largest pig iron producers in the world.

Buffalo is the largest lumber market in the world! Moreover her industries are wonderfully varied, more than 60 per cent of manufactures recognized by the Federal Census Bureau being made here in some quantity.

Buffalo has been no expeder of territory. In 50 years her city limits have remained the same, yet today she stands ninth in manufacturing in our country, exclusive of the tremendous development outside the city limits. That record is rather enviable, it seems to me.

Buffalo has 33 miles of waterfront more or less improved and more than 10,000 boats have arrived and departed from this port in a single year, exceeding many of the world's largest ports.

Great things are predicted from the State Barge Canal, which is the new name for the old Erie, most famous of America's artificial waterways.

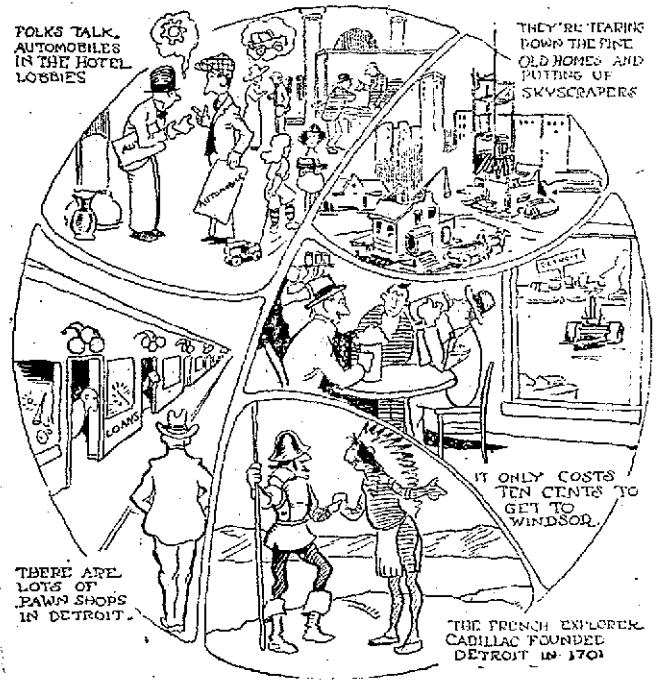

Buffalo claims first place among all lake ports, exceeding Chicago, by $250,000,000 and Cleveland, next port, by more than $300,000,000. No other lake port is in the running as to values.

She claims to be the second largest railroad center of the country, ranking next to Chicago.

But her greatest transportation asset is the State Barge Canal, which, constructed by the state of New York at a cost of $160,000,000 when terminals are completed will have a carrying capacity of 20,000,000 tons the year.

The people of Buffalo are strong for Canada. They point with pride to the 107 years of uninterrupted peaceful relations with our northern neighbor, and many Buffalo stores advertise conspicuously their willingness to accept Canadian money at full face value on all transactions.

Many of the big American factories are establishing branches just across the boundary and operating the two with one executive force.

If it were not for the Canadian high tariff these factories would remain on the American side, in many cases, but to avoid the tariff the branches are established.

But the tariff works both ways, for by raising a barrier against the raw products of Canada, our previous best customer we have lost the friendship and to a certain extent the business of many Canadian firms. At least they are lost to Buffalo business men.

Buffalo ranks high as a city of homes, churches, schools and general culture. Her beautiful Albright art gallery is one of the finest examples in the country of the classic Greek in architecture. Her splendid parks are the envy of many greater cities and her beautiful drives as well.

Almofpal ownership has never made the slightest progress in Buffalo. As one of the leading citizens pointed out today: We own our school and water systems and that is about all.

Street car fare is 7 cents flat, and service indifferent and cars dirty. A nickel or walk club of well to do citizens now numbers 3000, all of whom are pledged to haul friends free in their autos whenever they get the chance.

The city government includes a mayor and four councilmen in whom are vested all executive, administrative and legislative powers. All ordinances appropriating money, other than for current expenses, are subjected to a city-wide referendum. It is a great system and I would not attempt to venture an opinion on its comparative value.

Buffalo is a "jolly town in many ways. There are street fakers. On half a dozen downtown corners, you see the fake jewelry and patent medicine fakers harranging the crowd and hawkling their stuff without let or hindrance. Some jay town alright.

Then the street boothblacks, hundreds of them just as in London and New Orleans.

Neither Cleveland, Detroit nor Chicago have anything on Buffalo when it comes to infusion of foreigners.

In 1880 one-half of Buffalo was either German born or of German parentage. But the Germans and all others have long since given way to the Poles, who today are said to number close to 150,000 persons within the confines of this city of half a million!

This is the largest percentage of foreigners in any American city. And the character of these people is reflected in the habits, customs and appearance on many parts of the city.

Will Horr of Corbin was a business visitor here today.

The committee on appropriations at the 1922 session of the General Assembly consisted of C. A. Nelson, chairman; Samuel W. Adams, C. W. Bennett, M. C. Hawkins, H. R. Lawrence, Lester Jeter, F. C. Van Hoose, J. L. Richardson and E. E. Nelson.

Strength from Ironized Yeast Simply Glorious!

It Follows a Natural Law Which Never Changes or Fails. Entire Body Quickly Feels New Power!

"Are you just about gone to pieces?" Do you know that getting back strength is comparatively easy? But do you realize that it is almost impossible to get back your strength by means of unnatural drugs?

Madam, Ironized Yeast Will Build You Up Amazingly and Quickly:

You know that about one woman out of every three is exhausted because of overwork and exhaustion? The remarkable power of yeast-vitaminized-ironized has been proven. There is now no further excuse for being weak, sick, run-down. Ironized Yeast contains the tremendous natural body builders of vitamins and iron and it builds and strengthens in half the usual time. Do you know why? Ironized Yeast is not a mere mixture of yeast and iron, but yeast ironized, which is a substance all by itself. That's what makes Ironized Yeast the most powerful, natural builder in the world today. You will find a new strength coming over you, your cheeks will get rosy, your eyes sparkle, your appetite will be sharp, you will digest what you eat, your blood will move faster, your energy will be more than equal to your ambition. Get a package of Ironized Yeast today, and beware of substitutes. Sold at all drug stores at $1.00 a package. Each package contains 60 tablets, easily broken and sealed. They never lose their power. Sold by Ironized Yeast Co., Atlanta, Ga. Health and strength are now up to you.

MIDDLESBORO

Is a model town—the majority of families owning their homes, and take great pride in keeping them attractive. Middlesboro is well known for its well kept homes.

The town is also an excellent business center, and is constantly increasing in public modern improvements. Our new streets and those soon to be made make travel a pleasure throughout our rapidly growing little city. Our school system, second to none with several new buildings under construction, our churches, our business and fraternal organizations, our active women's clubs, our water supply, which is famous far and near, our hotels, the newest, a modern structure to be opened to the public on November 1—all these together with a population of 10,000 of the best people in the world, are features that invite the stranger within the gates a longer and become a part of this interesting community.

Are you satisfied with where you live? Very likely you will say, yes. Whose town is this? This is YOUR town if you would have it so. Men of long citizenship and sturdy, unflinching character have made Middlesboro for YOU to live in and enjoy life. Therefore, it is YOUR town, and you cannot afford to forsake it, if you intend it to be your maturity in success.

Neighbors, are you independent of this wonderful little city? Very few are. You need Middlesboro, and, folks—Middlesboro needs you and your patronage. Its stores would be up-to-date in a town three times its size.

THE CHILD IN SCHOOL

By Dr. R. H. Bishop

Children in school need a great deal of attention, especially those just starting to school.

It cannot be stated too emphatically that morning and afternoon recesses are an absolute necessity in the lower grades. It is easy to make the mistake of working the children too hard.

The common punishment of making children stay after school is a menace to the child's health. How much better it would be to enforce discipline during school hours, and then let the children run free in the sunlight and fresh air, as they should, to maintain their bodily health.

Night study, too, should be limited to the higher grades.

Children under 12 should be in bed at 8 o'clock, and the short hour after the evening meal may well be spent in story-reading or games.

It is noticeable that girls and boys bring books home every night to refresh bodies and over-developed minds.

A failing of parents is to coax their children to do stunts for visitors, and comment on the wonder of it in the children's hearing. This makes the child self-conscious, nervous and very unchildlike. Boldness is the logical outcome of pushing the children, at

McGraw, Napoleon of Baseball, 60 Years Old

By Associated Press

New York, Sept. 28.—By adding another pennant to the string that has fluttered from the flag pole at the Polo Grounds, John Joseph McGraw becomes more seemly esconced in his title of Napoleon of Baseball.

Short, stocky, dapper, ruddy faced and gray headed McGraw looks more like a successful broker than a professional athlete. It appears as what the clothing ads classify as smart, and if ever one twist shears him of success and reason he can get a job pion posing for an oil painting of a cigarette smoker or the latest in collars. McGraw was born in 1873 and so is just about turning the 30 mark. He began playing baseball as most American boys do as soon as he could toddle after one. His professional debut was made when he discarded short trousers, but whether he did one of those two things to effect the other is a question which his biographers must debate.

The present manager of the Champs has been in the game professionally for 32 years, starting with the Oleon team of the New York State league in 1890 when his reputation as a consistent hitter and reliable fielder spread from his native health of Truxton, N. Y. Throughout his playing days he was one of the marvels of the diamond but his gray matter has made him a fixture.

It was in August 1891 that McGraw broke into fast company, little more than a year after his entry in the professional ranks. His first season, he warmed the bench, but in 1892 Ned Hanlon, the Orioles' new manager, tried out John at second base and then shifted him to third where he gained a reputation.

McGraw has always been recognized as the peer of any who preceded or followed him at the hot corner, his particular forte being the fielding of bunts. He was a year in and year out, 330 hitter and fast on the paths. His individual playing was one of the factors in the success of the Old Orioles.

The game has grown big—has had virtually all of its growth and growth time. When he came to New York in 1893—McGraw's professional the old Polo Grounds seated 12,000, now it is 38,000 and a third tier to the grand stand is to be added next year. McGraw's life is insured by the club for $100,000 and he owns a fair share of operating company's stock.

The standing of his club under his management is shown by this table:

Year	W	L	1891	1892
1903	2	1	1913	1
1904	1	1	1914	2
1905	1	1	1915	8
1906	2	1	1916	4
1907	1	1	1917	1
1908	2	3	1918	2
1909	3	2	1919	2
1910	2	1	1920	2
1911	1	1	1921	1
